

Real Life versus Second Life Goods!

I have products in both Second Life (SL) and Real Life (RL). You can't buy RL goods in SL or vice versa. The object named “RLSL Info Board.” provides URLs for the following sources or SL and RL goods.

- * My SL Marketplace
- * My homepage, Thunderchild.net
- * The artwork's homepage or information site
- * On-line stores with RL products

One of my goals is to better organize my products in the real world locations by setting up matching items in Second Life. I've got a lot more room to organize things in SL than in my RL garage.

I use on-line on-demand product sites such as RedBubble.com, society6.com and spoonflower.com for extended on-demand products. The products are very good quality and the service is speedy. I've started my collection of Punky and the Rhinos.

I'm looking at Amazon for the sales of original and reproduction artwork.

Feel free to contact me with question, comments or requests.

AJ